Note: Students are bound by the requirements of the handbook in force at the time of their first registration in the program. The student may choose, however, to fulfill the requirements of a subsequent handbook. If the student does not fulfill handbook requirements within six years of their first enrollment in the program, then they are bound by the requirements of a subsequent handbook. For more information on the Graduate School's policies associated with graduation Under a particular catalog, see:*

<https://catalog.utexas.edu/graduate/degree-requirements/graduation/>

Section 1: Overview

We have designed this Handbook to (1) introduce MGPS students to the requirements, policies, procedures, and deadlines of the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs (LBJ School) and The University of Texas at Austin (UT) Office of Graduate Studies' (OGS) and (2) to familiarize students with important campus resources. Information contained within this Handbook is current as of August 2023. Subsequent changes or updates will be made online and distributed through the main student listserv (lbjstudents@utlists.utexas.edu). The Handbook is available in electronic format on the Forms, Policies and Procedures page of the LBJ School's website at: <http://lbj.utexas.edu/forms-policies-and-procedures>

Please read this information thoroughly, as it will answer many of your questions about the MGPS program. If you have any questions that the Handbook does not address, please do not hesitate to contact the Office of Student Admissions and Affairs.

1.1 Ethics and Professional Conduct

1.1.1 The University of Texas Honor Code

Affirmation

I pledge, as a member of the University of Texas community, to do my work honestly, respectfully, and through the intentional pursuit of learning and scholarship.

Elaboration

- I pledge to be honest about what I create and to acknowledge what I use that belongs to others.
- I pledge to value the process of learning in addition to the outcome, while celebrating and learning from mistakes.
- This code encompasses all of the academic and scholarly endeavors of the university community.

The University of Texas at Austin strives to create a dynamic and engaging community of teaching and learning where students feel intellectually challenged; build knowledge and skills; and develop critical thinking, creativity and intellectual curiosity. As a member of this community, it is important for all students to engage in assignments, exams and other coursework with openness, integrity and a willingness to make mistakes and learn from them.

1.1.2 Excerpts from UT Compliance and Ethics Guide

Obligation to Report Wrongdoing

All University employees have a personal and professional obligation to report, or cause to be reported, and to assist in any investigation by persons authorized or responsible for such matters, the following (collectively referred to as “wrongdoing”): illegal or fraudulent activity; financial misstatements, or accounting or auditing irregularities; conflicts of interests or dishonest or unethical conduct; violations of the institution’s code of conduct; and violations of other laws, rules, or regulations.

Use of Intellectual or Copyrighted Property

Copyrighted material, which includes almost everything written or recorded in any medium, including software, is protected under the federal Copyright Act, and typically, may not be copied or used without the owner’s permission. Generally, such materials may be copied without the copyright owner's permission only within narrow exceptions under the Copyright Act. Any copying or reproduction of copyrighted software on University computing equipment must comply with the Copyright Act and any applicable software license agreement. Further, faculty, staff and students may not use unauthorized copies of software on University owned computers or networks or computers housed in University facilities. However, one exception, known as “fair use,” allows copyrighted materials to be copied or otherwise used without the copyright owner's permission. <https://www.copyright.gov/fair-use/more-info.html>

Important Note on Academic Integrity

We expect students to respect the LBJ School's standards regarding academic dishonesty. You owe it to yourself, your fellow students, and the institution to maintain the highest standards of integrity and ethical behavior. A discussion of academic integrity, including definitions of plagiarism and unauthorized collaboration, as well as helpful information on citations, note taking, and paraphrasing, can be found at the web page of the Office of the Dean of Students: http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/acint_student.php

The University also has established disciplinary procedures and penalty guidelines for academic dishonesty, especially Sec. 11.304 in Appendix C of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities section in UT's General Information Catalog.

Students also should consult the LBJ School's own guide to plagiarism, available here: <https://lbj.utexas.edu/forms-policies-and-procedures>.

Acceptable Use Policy

The UT Austin Acceptable Use Policy (AUP) serves as a supplement to the UT Austin Information Resources Use and Security Policy. University information resources consist of the computer devices, data, applications, and the supporting networking infrastructure. These technologies are critical to the multifaceted mission of the University, a mission that includes teaching, research, and public service.

1.1.3 Professional Ethics at the LBJ School

All LBJ School students are members of the LBJ School community, as well as members of a public service profession. Both have a high standard for professional and ethical conduct. Each student has an obligation to report wrongdoing and be familiar with Intellectual and Copyrighted Property, UT's Academic Integrity standards, and the Acceptable Use Policy.

We also encourage all LBJ School students to familiarize themselves with the Code of Ethics formulated by the American Society of Public Administration (ASPA), available online at <https://www.aspanet.org/ASPA/About-ASPA/Code-of-Ethics/ASPA/Code-of-Ethics/Code-of-Ethics.aspx>

1.1.4 Student Responsibility

LBJ School students are responsible for knowing and satisfying program degree requirements, meeting administrative and academic deadlines, seeking academic advice when needed, and enrolling in appropriate courses to ensure progress toward degree completion. The Office of Student Affairs and Admissions (OSAA) and the degree program Graduate Advisors are here to help, but students are responsible for their compliance with program and University requirements.

UT's Office of Graduate Studies (OGS) sets most critical deadlines. Check the OGS (<https://gradschool.utexas.edu/>) and Office of the Registrar (<https://registrar.utexas.edu/>) websites for deadlines.

We expect students to promptly and thoroughly read informational emails sent by OSAA staff and their Graduate Coordinators. Please include your full name and UT EID when contacting your Graduate Coordinators for assistance.

1.2 Communications

Email is the official form of communication at UT Austin. Every student must provide the LBJ School and The University of Texas with current and accurate contact information at all times, including email address, local address and permanent physical address, and telephone number. The University of Texas requires students to conduct all University business with their UT email accounts.

The LBJ School maintains several listservs to keep in touch with students. We will add you to each list at the start of your first semester. You will see emails from the following listservs:

- The lbjschool listserv contains official correspondence from the Dean's Office and from OSAA.
- The lbjstudents listserv is a moderated listserv to which you can submit school- related messages, and which you can customize to receive messages immediately or as a digest.
- Each degree program has its own academic listserv (lbjmgps, lbjmpaff, lbjphd, duals), so that OSAA can deliver program-specific academic and advising information—please read these messages carefully.

Important Communications from The Office of Student Affairs and Admissions (OSAA) OSAA is the "hub" of important communications for the school. From academic deadlines to job postings, event reminders and other important announcements, the communications from OSAA are very important. We ask that you take the time to read all emails, check the Canvas site, and become familiar with the LBJ website. OSAA uses the following channels to communicate important information to our students— please make sure you are checking each regularly:

- Student Listserv emails
- Enrolled Student Canvas Site
- Weekly Student Newsletter
- Postings on bulletin boards around the LBJ building
- Social Media- OSAA Instagram Account
- Communications disseminated through student organizations such as GPAC

Section 2: MGPS Degree: Curriculum Overview

2.1 MGPS Degree Requirements

The LBJ School's curriculum and academic policies are set by each program's Graduate Studies Committee (GSC), which consists of tenured and tenure-track LBJ School faculty members, and the program's Graduate Advisor. The MGPS program is a full-time graduate program, so students must be enrolled full-time (taking a minimum of nine credits each semester) to continue toward their degree. A minimum of 12 credits each semester, taking 13 in one of four semesters, is required to finish in two years.

Completion of the MGPS program requires a total of 49 graduate credit hours:

Core Course Requirements: 22

PA 387G , Nature of the International System (fall semesters only)	3
PA 397G , Analytical Methods for GPS	3
PA 393G , Microeconomics	3
PA 383G , Policy Making in a Global Age (spring semesters only)	3
PA 393H , International Economics*	3

PA 682GA and PA 682GB , Policy Research Project (PRP) (two-semester class)	6
PA 195G , Crisis Simulation (spring semesters only, offered every two years)	1

*Some other courses with international economics content may also be used to satisfy this requirement. The list of such courses is established by the MGPS GSC: see your OSAA Advisor for details.

Writing Requirement: 3

Students must complete ONE of the following MGPS writing courses: PA 387W, Writing for Global Policy Studies (must be completed during the first year of the program, unless the student plans on completing a Professional Report)

-OR-

PA 398R, Professional Report (must be completed in the final semester of study)

[Note: Some MGPS dual-degree students are required to complete a Professional Report (PR) or, as appropriate, a Thesis, either of which satisfy the LBJ School writing requirement].

Specialization Course Requirements: 15

Specialization courses must be approved by your OSAA Advisor and must be taken for a letter grade. (Note: MGPS Business, Information, Journalism, Law, and Public Health dual-degree students are required to complete only 12 credits of specialization coursework.)

Elective Course Requirements: 9

(Note: MGPS dual-degree students are not required to complete elective courses.)

Policy Research Project (PRP) Requirement The PRP, designed as the capstone of the MGPS curriculum, is a yearlong course in which students work in groups on a real-world problem under a faculty mentor, delivering a final research product to a client. The course helps students gain experience in problem structuring, policy formulation, project management, group dynamics, ethics, and report presentation. The MGPS PRP requirement is usually completed in the second year of study (though dual-degree students may complete the MGPS PRP requirement in the third year of study). Students may, in exceptional cases, request to take a PRP during their first year, subject to approval of their OSAA Advisor.

Notes on Quantitative Readiness:

The LBJ School provides both a rigorous quantitative-analytic curriculum and a comprehensive support structure to ensure that all entering students acquire the background to meet that rigor. Students will take a quantitative diagnostic test in May. Only those students who pass all sections of this exam will be exempt from the summer preparatory program in quantitative skills. All others will attend a two-week, in-person refresher course on quantitative concepts (called “Camp LBJ”) in the first two weeks of August, right before orientation begins. This serves to ready students to use the quantitative tools they will be required to know in their first-semester core courses.

Those students whose quantitative diagnostic test reveals areas that need more substantive review or study will take a longer, online quantitative skills course during the months of June and July, to get them ready for Camp LBJ.

Both Camp LBJ and the summer online quantitative course are offered to incoming students free of charge. They do not require enrollment at UT, nor do students earn academic credit for completing them.

2.2 Internship Requirement

All MGPS students must complete an internship during their career at the LBJ School. This is most frequently completed in the summer months between the two years of study. MGPS internships must contain global content and include 300 or more hours of appropriate professional, policy-oriented work. Internships must be approved by OSAA prior to the first day of the internship. For further information, please see Section 2.14 below.

2.3 Foreign Language Proficiency Requirement

MGPS students must show foreign language proficiency by the time they graduate from the program. This can be achieved via:

- Proof of four semesters' worth of consecutive foreign language study at institutions of higher education (courses taken at UT during the MGPS program may count toward this total); or
- Passing a placement test at UT Austin once enrolled at the LBJ School; or
- Passing a Peace Corps or Military (Defense Language Institute) foreign language proficiency exam.

International students whose native language is not English are considered to have satisfied this requirement.

2.4 Core Course Sequencing and Waivers

Some core courses are sequenced: enrollment in Policy Making in a Global Age (PA 383G) requires successful completion of The Nature of the International System (PA 387G); enrollment in International Economics (PA 393H) (or any other economics course that the GSC has approved as meeting the international economics requirement) requires successful completion of Microeconomics (PA 393G).

In some cases, students with a significant background in economics, such as undergraduate Economics majors, may request a waiver for the Microeconomics course. The LBJ School Microeconomics Coordinator (Dr. Andrew Waxman) will evaluate each request individually. If he determines that the student has a firm grasp of the concepts covered in the course, that student may take any other three-credit graduate-level course in its stead. The total number of credits required for graduation remains unchanged.

Students should satisfy their International Economics core requirement with an approved course that covers a broad range of issues, including Trade and International Monetary Policy. Students who have covered such material in prior coursework or have strong interests in another area of International Economics may consult with their OSAA Advisor to identify another economics course from a short list of courses that satisfy the requirement. The list of such courses is approved by the MGPS GSC.

2.6 MGPS Dual-Degree Programs

The LBJ School's MGPS program offers a total of 10 dual-degree programs which are described in detail at <http://www.lbj.utexas.edu/dual-degrees-master-global-policy-studies>.

Dual Degree Program	Expected Number of Years to Completion	MGPS Hours*			MGPS Writing Course	Thesis or Report Requirement

Public Health	3	37	25	12	REQUIRED	No
Russian, Eastern European and Eurasian Studies	3	37	22	15	No	Thesis or Report (REEES)

*For the number of hours required in the non-LBJ Department, please contact the department in question.

Business, Law, and Public Health dual-degree programs require completion of a 12-credit hour Specialization. All other MGPS dual-degree programs require completion of a 15-credit hour Specialization. The list of requirements is summarized in the table above. Some dual degrees require either an LBJ Professional Report or a Thesis written in the non-LBJ department related to the Specialization, completed in the final semester of study.

- The LBJ School encourages concurrent enrollment for dual-degree seekers—we do not require that students take courses in a single academic unit in any given semester. Some of our partner programs, such as the School of Law or the Business School may have such stipulations, however: check with the non-LBJ School program to learn about their enrollment requirements.
- Some academic fellowships may require certain minimum credit hours of enrollment in one program or another. Check with the Graduate Coordinator at lbjstudentaffairs@austin.utexas.edu and the LBJ Endowment and Fellowship Specialist at lbjfellowships@austin.utexas.edu about any such requirements before registering for courses. Typical time-to-degree for most dual-degree students is 3 years (4 years for Law).

Some dual degree programs require a thesis or an LBJ Professional Report. In each case, the corresponding school has requirements regarding who may serve as your first and second reader. Students should consult with their Advisor in each of their programs about the thesis/PR requirements. For information on thesis submission and graduation rules, please visit the University of Texas Graduate School website at : <https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/graduation/deadlines-and-submission-instructions>.

2.7 MGPS Specialization Course Requirements

All MGPS students select one of six specializations (<https://lbj.utexas.edu/specializations-mgps>) or propose a custom Specialization (subject to OSAA Advisor approval). The existing Specializations are Security, Law, and Diplomacy; International Trade and Finance; International Development; Global Governance and International Law; International Energy, Environment, and Technology; and Regional International Policy (with a specific focus such as Latin America, Europe, etc.).

The Specialization is offered and managed within the LBJ School and will not appear on the student's transcript or UT diploma. Students should inform their OSAA Advisor of their choice of Specialization before registering for the spring semester of their first year of study.

A Specialization consists of 15 credit hours of coursework [12 for certain dual-degree students] that provide a depth of knowledge in a particular area of global affairs. MGPS Specialization courses must be approved by a student's OSAA Advisor and be completed for a letter grade. Note that not all Specialization courses need be taken at the LBJ School. As long as a course is relevant to the chosen specialization, and the OSAA Advisor approves it, it can count toward the Specialization requirement of a student's LBJ degree.

2.8 Elective Course Requirements

The MGPS degree requires nine credits of elective, graduate-level coursework (except for dual degree students). These courses can be taken at the LBJ School, but MGPS students are encouraged to take graduate-level courses in other UT departments. All courses that are policy-relevant and contain international content may potentially count as elective courses, but always check with your OSAA Advisor for approval before registering.

No undergraduate courses may count toward the MGPS degree (even as electives), with one exception. Students may count a maximum of six credits of undergraduate foreign language coursework toward their MGPS degree, and only toward their elective coursework (not their specialization). Graduate-level foreign language courses may also count as elective coursework, if they satisfy two conditions: 1, contain significant policy-relevant content, and 2, receive pre-approval from the OSAA Advisor.

2.9 Enrolling in Courses in Other UT Academic Units

Some UT departments restrict their courses to departmental majors. Such restrictions are visible on the online course schedule. In cases where a non-LBJ School course is restricted to departmental majors, students should contact the department offering the course to inquire about the registration procedure for students outside of the home department. UT Graduate Program Department Contacts are available at <https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/programs>.

Law School courses: Registering for Law courses (except for cross-listed courses with a PA number) requires a separate process—please contact OSAA.

In addition, note that Law courses have later grade reporting deadlines than other UT Austin courses. Therefore, students enrolling in Law School courses in their final semester must request that their Law School professor commit to reporting their final grades early to the UT Registrar via a paper 505 form. If the instructor is unwilling to do so, the student should not register for the course: their late grade reporting will prevent them from graduating on time. Students should consult their OSAA Advisor throughout this enrollment process.

2.10 Conference Courses

Students may register for a Conference Course (PA 189C or PA 389), an individualized learning experience that may satisfy an elective requirement or a specialization requirement (if pre-approved by their OSAA Advisor). The Conference Course agreement is a contract between a student and an LBJ School faculty member that defines the content of the learning experience and the resulting academic deliverables. MGPS students are allowed to count up to nine credits of Conference Courses toward their program of study, preferably not in the same semester. Students must submit a Conference Course Registration form, signed by the supervising faculty member, to their OSAA Advisor to register for the PA 189C or PA 389 Conference Courses. Note that the PA 389 course is a three-credit course, while the PA 189C course is only a one-credit course. Conference courses supervised by faculty members outside of the LBJ School should be registered with the supervisor's home department, but the contract between the faculty member and the student should still be filed with OSAA.

2.11 Transfer Credit Policy

UT Graduate School policy stipulates that a maximum of six graduate credit hours may be transferred into a master's degree program at The University of Texas, provided that the student has OSAA approval and the credits have not been applied toward completion of another degree. Note that while the credits will transfer, the grade will not: therefore, transfer credits may only be used to satisfy an elective requirement, not a core or specialization credit.

Students who plan to request to transfer credits for application to the LBJ School degree should initiate the process as soon as possible after matriculation. The Graduate School website at <https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/policies/transfer-credit> contains detailed information regarding credit transfer policies and procedures.

2.12 Graduate School Portfolio Programs

The University of Texas Office of Graduate Studies oversees more than two dozen graduate portfolio programs. These programs provide opportunities for development in a cross-disciplinary area of inquiry while completing the requirements for a master's degree or doctorate in a particular discipline. Completion of a portfolio program is certified on final transcripts, providing future employers with an indication of the student's credentials in the field. For more information, please visit <https://lbj.utexas.edu/graduate-portfolio-programs>.

2.13 Internships

2.13.1 Requirements and Academic Credit

To satisfy the MGPS internship requirement for graduation, students must complete a minimum of one internship, consisting of at least 300 hours in a global policy-related placement. Students must submit a completed MGPS Internship Approval Request form, along with an offer letter from the placement agency, to OSAA for approval. Students must receive formal approval prior to starting an internship intended to satisfy the MGPS requirement.

Students may complete the internship requirement for administrative or academic credit. Administrative credit does not require registering for a course or paying tuition. The internship does not earn academic credit hours toward the degree. After completing the internship and submitting student and supervisor evaluations, the student's record will show that the internship requirement is completed.

Alternatively, students may sign up for a three-credit internship for credit course (PA 396G) This course can only be taken CR/NC, and can therefore only count toward a student's elective course requirements. Students register for the PA 396G internship course after securing an internship and receiving internship course registration approval, and must also pay tuition. (Students must register for the internship course during the semester in which the internship is completed or the semester immediately following.) Though students may voluntarily complete more than one internship while enrolled at the LBJ School, the PA 396G internship course may not be repeated for credit.

An MGPS student may complete the School-required internship in any semester, although most students complete the internship in the summer between the first and second years of study. Dual-degree students often opt to complete the internship between the second and third years of study.

2.13.2 Alternatives and Flexibility on Internship Requirements

As long as a student still performs substantive global policy work and reports to a supervisor regularly, then in exceptional circumstances virtual internships may fulfill students' internship requirement. In-person internships, however, are always preferable, given the networking opportunities they provide. As long as the content of each, shorter, internship meets the usual LBJ School internship requirements, students are allowed to combine two shorter-term internships to fulfill their requirement. Both shorter-term internships still need to be approved by OSAA, and require the submission of separate evaluation forms.

The following alternatives to traditional internships may also fulfill the MGPS internship requirement (all subject to OSAA approval):

Research Assistantships: Students with significant policy-relevant research assistantships outside of their usual coursework may request that this fulfill their internship requirements. The research project may be run by a university research center (at UT Austin or elsewhere) or an individual faculty member (at UT Austin or elsewhere). It should require the use of skills that the student has built at the LBJ School, and be policy-relevant and have a global component. The work performed may not be used simultaneously to earn academic credit. That means the work of the research assistant may not fulfill the internship for academic credit course, nor can the work be used to earn academic credit via a conference course with a faculty member. In addition, LBJ faculty-sponsored research assistantships must involve (1) faculty responsibility for student compensation and (2) faculty certification of external organization contact as a major part of the experience.

Students who have served as GRAs or in other research assistant capacities, whose work fulfills the above requirements, may apply to have this work count retroactively toward their internship requirement, if the work totals (or will total) approximately 300 hours. In these instances, research assistantships are considered paid employment and are not eligible for unpaid internship funds from the LBJ School.

Service learning: Students who participate in significant volunteer or service activities may request that this fulfill their internship requirements. Such work must be combined with some academic, global policy-relevant work. Students who wish to count such volunteer or service experience as their internship should consult with LBJ Career Services prior to seeking approval of such an internship. This option is not encouraged for students who lack significant prior professional experience (especially "in office" work experiences).

Current Employment: Students who had significant employment in global policy-relevant areas in the prior fall and/or spring semesters may apply to have this work count retroactively towards their internship requirement if the work totals (or will total) 300 hours. In these instances, students are not eligible for unpaid internship funds from the LBJ School. Students who wish to count such work experience as their internship should consult with LBJ Career Services prior to seeking approval of such an internship.

2.13.3 Internship Waiver Policy

In exceptional circumstances, students with certain national service or substantial professional global policy experience may request a waiver of the internship requirement by submitting a completed Waiver Request form, along with a current resume, to the Career Services Office in OSAA. NOTE: in most instances, a minimum of 3 years of significant policy-relevant work experience is required for a waiver to be approved. Once a waiver is approved, the internship requirement is considered fulfilled, and the waiver cannot be rescinded. Because the internship experience is a valuable learning, resume-building, and professional networking opportunity, students with fewer years of professional experience are encouraged to complete an internship, even if eligible for a waiver. Students wishing to request an internship waiver must do so within their first year of enrollment at the LBJ School.

2.14 The Professional Report

The Professional Report (PR) is a single-authored policy analysis project completed in the final year of the program. While students must register for the PR course in their last (usually second spring) semester, to complete the PR successfully and in a timely manner, students are expected to work on the PR in both the fall and spring semesters. Each student selects his or her own topic and asks two faculty members to serve on a supervising committee. Completion of a Professional Report or Thesis is required for some MGPS dual-degree students. For all other MGPS students, the PR is one of two options available for completing the MGPS writing requirement. Detailed information about the Professional Report, including format requirements, policies, and procedures is available online at <https://lbj.utexas.edu/masters-professional-report>.

If you plan on completing a PR instead of the three-credit MGPS Writing for Global Policy Studies course, keep the following points in mind:

- The Graduate School requires that students completing a PR register for the Professional Report course (or Thesis, as appropriate) in the final semester of study (the semester of graduation).
- To register for the LBJ School PR course, students must submit a completed Professional Report Committee Selection and Registration Approval form to their Graduate Coordinator prior to registration.
- Each student must have two or more faculty members on their supervising committee.
- If enrolled in the PR at the LBJ School, the student's main supervisor must be a member of the MGPS Graduate Studies Committee.
- The LBJ School requires that students working with faculty follow a specific Professional Report progress timeline and meet internal LBJ School PR deadlines found here: <https://lbj.utexas.edu/masters-professional-report>. The Professional Report can only be taken for Credit/No Credit, not for a letter grade. It can therefore not be applied to a student's 15 required specialization course credits.

- Grades of incomplete are not given for the PR course. In the event that a student does not successfully complete the PR (or Thesis) in the intended final semester of study, the student must re-enroll in the PR class in the subsequent semester, thus delaying graduation.

Note: Completing a PR is a very different type of writing experience than taking the three-credit Writing for Global Policy Studies course. The PR is a long, in-depth, research-heavy policy report, whereas the Writing course focuses on drafting short, succinct policy documents such as memos and press releases. Therefore, even students who choose to write a PR are encouraged to take the Writing course: in such cases, the Writing course may count as three of the fifteen required specialization course credits toward the student's degree. For questions, reach out to your OSAA Advisor.

Section 3. Academic Policies and Procedures

Registration at UT Austin encompasses academic advising, registering for classes online, and paying your tuition bill (or confirming your attendance if financial aid or a third party has paid your bill). UT Austin registration access periods are pre-determined by the Office of the Registrar; students may not register outside of the Registrar's pre-determined access periods. Your Registration Information Sheet (RIS) will note your specific registration access periods, as well as any registration bars. Registration in preferred courses is not guaranteed. We encourage you to plan ahead and consider alternative course options prior to each registration period.

3.1 Registration Procedures

An overview of the steps required for registration is offered in the Registration Information session during Orientation. This is a summary of those steps:

1. Degree planning and academic advising with your Graduate Advisor
2. Consulting your Registration Information Sheet (RIS) online.
3. Clearing your registration bars.
4. Course schedule consultation and review.
5. Submitting relevant registration paperwork prior to registration.
6. Registering for classes.
7. Using the online Course Waitlist system.
8. Fine-tuning your schedule during Add/Drop periods.
9. Paying your tuition bill and/or confirming your attendance to class.

LBJ Graduate Coordinators will always register students for the following courses:

- PRPs
- Conference Courses

- Summer/Fall DC Courses (LBJ Graduate Coordinators will work with Robin Boone, Deputy Director of the LBJ Washington Center to register all DC students for the proper courses)
- Internship Course for Academic Credit
- Professional Report Course

3.1.1 Course Numbers

Courses at UT are given a three-digit number. The first digit of a course number indicates the number of credit hours the student will receive for completing the course. For example: PA 188G= ONE credit hour course PA 387G= THREE credit hour course

Exceptions include graduate-level courses that end with the letter A or B. These letters indicate two-part, sequentially based courses to be taken over the course of two semesters. At LBJ, PA 680PA (PRP course, Part I) and PA 680PB (PRP, Part II) are three credit hours each, but credits are not conferred until the sequence of six hours has been completed.

The second digit in a UT course number indicates whether it is graduate-level or not. Graduate courses are coded with a second digit of eight or nine. For example: PA 397 and PA 383C are graduate courses, but PA 325 is at the undergraduate level.

Only graduate-level courses offered by the University will fulfill LBJ degree requirements. Graduate students may enroll in undergraduate classes for enrichment, but those credits can NOT be applied toward completion of LBJ School degrees, nor will they count towards fellowship enrollment requirements. Grades in upper-division undergraduate courses (those with a middle digit of 2 or greater (for example: ARA 325) are included in the graduate GPA, however. Additionally, graduate students enrolled in undergraduate courses are subject to undergraduate deadlines, which differ from deadlines for graduate students.

3.1.2 Course Enrollment Limits and Restrictions

To ensure the quality of the learning experience, each LBJ School course has an enrollment limit determined by the Associate Dean for Academic Strategies. Additionally, some courses may be restricted to students in particular degree programs based on program needs. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis until the enrollment limit is reached. Once the official limit is reached, additional registration for the course is at the instructor's discretion, based on the course waitlist (and subject to classroom seating capacity set to meet public safety requirements).

3.1.3 Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) Registration Policy

MGPS core classes must be taken for a letter grade. Outside of the core curriculum, students may take up to nine total elective credit hours on a Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) basis. Courses taken on a CR/NC basis are not included in the calculation of graduate student GPA.

Students may register for an elective class on a CR/NC basis during the registration period. After the registration system closes, students may change a class to CR/NC status (or vice versa) one time, until the deadline published in the UT academic calendar.

To change the grade status of a course after the registration system closes, obtain a Grade Change Status form from OSAA. (This form is not available online.) You must obtain your Advisor's signature before submitting the form to the Office of Graduate Studies by the mid-semester CR/NC deadline.

3.1.4 Maximum Credit Hour Enrollment Policy

The maximum course load allowed for a graduate student in the fall and spring semesters is 15 credit hours. The maximum course load for a graduate student in summer semesters is 12 credit hours. Each summer is divided into two five-week sessions, with some courses meeting the whole summer. The 12-hour limit is for any combination of summer courses. Most LBJ students take 12 credit hours per semester—you should consult your Advisor if you plan on exceeding that number. Enrolling in more than 15 credit hours in any given semester requires a petition letter to the Office of Graduate Studies (OGS) from your Advisor. You should remember to leave enough time in your schedule for extra-curricular learning: attending talks and lectures, working with research centers, and participating in social and networking activities.

3.1.5 Full-Time Enrollment

Graduate students must enroll in at least nine credit hours per long semester (three credit hours in the summer) to be considered full-time by The University. Most LBJ School students enroll in 12 hours per long semester to complete the program in two years (or three or four years, if enrolled in a dual-degree program). The MGPS program does not allow for part-time enrollment.

3.1.6 Courses Completed with a Letter Grade- Requirements

Per OGS Graduate Credit rules (found here:

<https://catalog.utexas.edu/graduate/degree-requirements/graduate-credit/>), only courses in which the student earned a grade of at least C while registered in the Graduate School may be included in the Program of Work.

Full-Time Enrollment and Financial Aid/Fellowships

The Office of Financial Aid requires financial aid recipients to enroll in a minimum of five credit hours per long semester to receive financial aid. International students must enroll in a minimum of nine credit hours per long semester to meet student visa requirements, but exceptions may be made for graduate students in their last semester before graduation. The University requires that students who gain employment as Teaching Assistants (TAs) or Graduate Research Assistants (GRAs) be registered for at least nine credit hours. UT and LBJ School fellowships require the student to register for a minimum of nine hours in long semesters (fall and spring) and a minimum of three hours when required to register for the summer semester.

3.2 Grades of Incomplete

If a student receives an incomplete in a course, the student must complete the course requirements by the last class day in his or her next long-session semester of enrollment. If this deadline is not met, the symbol X is converted to the symbol I (permanent incomplete). If the student is not enrolled during a long-session semester for twenty-four months following the end of the semester in which the X is reported, and the instructor does not report a final grade, then the symbol X is converted to the symbol I.

The symbol I cannot be converted to a grade. When the symbol I is recorded, the symbol X also remains on the student's record. A course in which the student receives an incomplete grade (X or I) will not affect the student's GPA but may not be applied toward a degree.

It is the student's responsibility to resolve incompletes. Do not expect reminders from your professors or advisors. If you request a temporary incomplete (X), make sure you have a clear timeline for completing the work and agreement (in writing) on this with your course professor. Make sure your advisor is also aware of your intentions to take, and resolve, the incomplete.

3.3 Enrollment Changes

3.3.1 Adding or Dropping a Course

Students can add and drop courses on their own online through the fourth-class day for fall and spring semester, and the second-class day during the summer sessions) After the fourth-class day, but before the 12th class day (or after the second but before the fourth-class day during the summer sessions), the student must submit paper forms, with Graduate Advisor approval. After the 12th class day (or after the fourth-class day during the summer sessions) students may not add a course, except for rare and extenuating circumstances which must be approved by the Graduate Dean of the Office of Graduate Studies (OGS).

Requests to add a course under these circumstances require a letter of petition from the Graduate Advisor to the Graduate Dean of OGS and a completed Add/Drop form with all required signatures. For more information, please see <https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/policies/adding-and-dropping-courses>.

3.3.2 Refunds for Course Drops and Academic Withdrawals

The University will refund partial tuition for classes that are dropped by the 12th class day in a long semester (fourth class day of a summer session), provided that the student maintains enrollment and the drop results in a tuition decrease. Refunds are not given for classes dropped after these dates.

A student who drops a class after receiving any cash payment from the Office of Financial Aid (OFA) may be required to make partial repayment. Please contact OFA directly for information regarding repayment obligations. The Student Accounts Receivable Office issues most refunds the week after the 12th (or fourth for the summer semester) class day. Refunds are mailed to the student's local address or deposited into the account the student has designated, if an electronic funds transfer authorization is in effect. Students with questions regarding refunds should contact Student Accounts Receivable directly at (512) 475-7777.

A withdrawal from all courses constitutes cancellation of registration. A student may cancel registration for all courses and receive a full refund by notifying the Graduate School in writing prior to the first-class day of any given semester. Students who withdraw from the University after the first-class day but before the 20th class day in any long semester (sixth class day in summer semesters) may receive a partial refund of tuition. The refund percentage is based on the effective date of withdrawal, as noted in the University's General Information Catalog.

In addition to Graduate School approval, withdrawals for international students also require the consent of the International Office, and withdrawals for students receiving federal financial aid require the consent of the Office of Financial Aid. Detailed information about the withdrawal procedure for graduate students is available online here.

Medical withdrawals and course load reductions are handled by University Health Services: <https://www.healthyhorns.utexas.edu/medicalwithdrawals.html>.

3.4 Leave of Absence Policy

Graduate students may apply for a leave of absence for no more than a total of two long semesters, total. The benefits of filing a formal leave of absence through the Graduate School include guaranteed readmission and a waiver of the readmission application fee upon return to the program. To request a formal leave of absence, a student must submit a Leave of Absence Authorization Form, signed by the Graduate Advisor, to the Office of Graduate Studies prior to the semester for which a leave is requested. Please be sure to provide a copy of your leave form to the GAPCs. Leaves of absence are not automatically renewed semester to semester, and students returning from leaves of absence must formally request readmission before they can register for courses. Student fellowships are forfeited during semesters students are on leave of absence.

Applications to defer fellowships for one semester may be submitted to the Endowment and Fellowship Specialist at lbjfellows@utexas.edu for submission to the Fellowship Committee. There is no guarantee that an approval will be given to defer. More information about leaves of absence is available here.

Medical withdrawals are not considered leaves of absence and are handled by University Health Services: <https://www.healthyhorns.utexas.edu/medicalwithdrawals.html>.

3.5 Probationary Status and Academic Dismissal

Students admitted with conditions should meet with the Assistant Dean for Academics for advising as soon as possible to work toward removal of the conditions. Similarly, any master's student whose cumulative GPA falls below 3.0 in a given semester will be placed on academic probation for the following semester. Students on academic probation should see the Assistant Dean for Academics for academic advising and to have the subsequent semester's registration bar cleared. A graduate student whose cumulative graduate grade point average falls below 3.00 at the end of any semester or summer session will be warned by the Office of Graduate Studies that their continuance in the Graduate School is in jeopardy. The student must attain a cumulative graduate grade point average of at least 3.0 during the next semester or summer session they enrolled or be subject to dismissal. During this period, the student may not drop a course or withdraw from the University without the approval of the Graduate Advisor and the Graduate Dean.

More information is available here: <https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/policies/warning-status-academic-dismissal>

Two consecutive semesters on academic probation places students in the status of unsatisfactory academic standing and is cause for dismissal from the University of Texas Graduate School.

The LBJ School MGPS Graduate Studies Committee also maintains a definition of satisfactory academic progress. A student will be deemed to meet expectations for satisfactory academic progress if s/he meets the following three criteria:

1. Maintains an average 3.0 GPA across all courses,
2. Achieves grades of C or higher in each required ('core') class in the student's respective degree program,
3. Has completed or has plans to complete the administrative requirements of the respective degree program (e.g., internship requirement).

LBJ School fellowship recipients must maintain a 3.0 or higher GPA to receive fellowship awards. More information on academic dismissal policies listed here:

<https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/policies/warning-status-academic-dismissal>.

Students on probationary status are not allowed to work as a Teaching Assistant (TA) or Graduate Research Assistant (GRA) at The University, but they are otherwise eligible for part time University employment. Students admitted with conditions are not allowed to work as a Teaching Assistant (TA) or Graduate Research Assistant, and furthermore, they are NOT eligible for any other University employment during their first semester.

3.6 Student Travel Policy

The LBJ School and the University of Texas promote safe travel by students, faculty, and staff who conduct research and/or University business away from the Austin campus. More information is available here: <https://policies.utexas.edu/policies/student-travel-policy-university-organized-or-sponsored-events>

Students must receive prior authorization for travel to any destination that is any way related to academic degree programs, courses, research, internships, or professional development activities. All travel authorization requests must be signed by the LBJ designated authority, who is currently the Associate Dean for Academics. More information on international travel policies, required forms, insurance, and procedures is available at <https://travel.utexas.edu/travelplanning/travel-authorizations>.

For any changes to international travel related to COVID-19, please refer to the Texas Global international travel guidelines: <https://global.utexas.edu/risk/travel>. If you have specific questions about travel paperwork and processes, please contact LBJ Academic Support at lbjacademicsupport@austin.utexas.edu.

3.7 Texas Residency

Each person who applies for admission to a Texas public college or university is classified as a Texas resident, a non-resident, or a foreign (international) student, which determines whether they pay non-resident or in-state tuition rates. In general, one cannot become a resident solely by going to school in Texas. Detailed information about establishing Texas residency is available at <https://admissions.utexas.edu/residency>. Questions about establishing Texas residency should be directed to the Graduate and International Admissions Center (residency@austin.utexas.edu; 512-475-7391). Please notify the GAPCs and, if you are the recipient of a fellowship, the Endowment and Fellowship Specialist of any change in your residency status.

3.8 Academic Employment at UT Austin

Academic employment at UT Austin encompasses the following positions: Teaching Assistant (TA), Assistant Instructor (AI), Graduate Research Assistant (GRA), and Graduate Assistant (GA). To qualify for academic employment, candidates must be degree-seeking graduate students enrolled full-time with a minimum GPA of 3.0. According to UT Austin policy, students admitted with provisional status may not be employed in any capacity on campus. Detailed information about academic employment requirements for graduate students is available at: <https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academic-employment>.

As a professional graduate school with no associated undergraduate program, the LBJ School offers a very limited number of TA positions, with priority given to our PhD students. Available TA/GRA positions both at LBJ and in other UT departments are advertised on the LBJ Careers website at <https://utcns.joinhandshake.com/login>.

Students may also want to consider academic employment in a department that offers undergraduate coursework in a discipline in which they have expertise. A list of UT Austin Graduate Program Contacts is available at: <https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/programs>.

3.8.1 Benefits by Reason of Academic Employment

Campus employment in a qualifying academic title at or above 20 hours per week enables non-resident students to receive a resident tuition entitlement benefit during the semester of employment. A complete list of qualifying titles is available here: <https://hr.utexas.edu/student/student-academic-employment>.

The resident tuition entitlement benefit is not automatically applied to the student's tuition bill. Non-resident students with a qualifying academic appointment must apply for the resident tuition benefit at <https://utdirect.utexas.edu/acct/fb/waivers/index.WBX> no later than the 12th class day, even if you were awarded a fellowship containing a reduction in tuition to in-state rates. Non-resident LBJ School Fellows who received an out-of-state tuition waiver award at the time of admission should notify the LBJ School Endowment and Fellowship Specialist at lbjfellows@austin.utexas.edu immediately if you are appointed to a qualifying academic employment position.

The Tuition Reduction Benefit entitles Teaching Assistants to a reduction of in-state tuition. Detailed information about Tuition Reduction Benefit is available here:

<https://gradschool.utexas.edu/finances/student-employment/academic-employment/tuition-reduction-benefit>

Graduate Research Assistants (GRAs) may also receive a full or partial tuition reduction benefit, but it is not guaranteed. Please check with the faculty member in charge of the research project for details.

Graduate students assigned to work in a student academic title for at least 20 hours a week for at least 4.5 months (135 calendar days) are eligible for the university's employee group insurance benefits: <http://www.utexas.edu/hr/student/insurance.html>.

Detailed information about student employment benefits can be found on the UT Austin Human Resources' Student Employment Page online at:

<http://www.utexas.edu/hr/student/studentemplbenefits.html>.

3.9 Six-Year Limit on Master's Coursework

Regardless of enrollment status (full-time/part-time) or major (single degree/dual-degree), the UT Graduate School requires master's students to complete the degree within six academic years from the initial date of matriculation.

3.10 Graduation

Graduate students must be registered during the semester in which they graduate and must apply for graduation by the deadline published on the LBJ Website. There are no exceptions to this policy. A student who fails to complete all degree requirements or misses the Professional Report/Thesis submission deadline must register, pay tuition, and apply to graduate the following semester in order to receive the degree. To view UT's graduation application instructions and deadlines, please visit:

<https://gradschool.utexas.edu/academics/graduation/deadlines-and-submission-instructions>

Note for Dual Degree Graduates- You MUST submit a paper form signed by BOTH departments. LBJ's internal deadline for this paper form is ONE MONTH PRIOR to the UT Campus deadline. Deadline information can be found here:

<https://lbj.utexas.edu/graduation-application-instructions>

3.10.1 Diplomas

UT diplomas are mailed to the permanent address on file four to six weeks after degrees are certified, provided all financial bars have been cleared. To ensure diploma receipt, students should pay off financial bars and confirm their permanent address at:

https://utdirect.utexas.edu/apps/utd/all_my_addresses/.

Questions regarding diplomas should be directed to UT's Diploma Services Office at (512) 475-7620 or diplomas@austin.utexas.edu.

Section 4: LBJ School Student Resources

4.1 LBJ School Student Fellowships

There are three types of admissions fellowships awarded:

1. Stipends paid directly to the student,
2. Tuition paid directly to the University of Texas at Austin on behalf of the student awarded, and
3. Tuition waivers that waive the out-of-state portion of the tuition billed.

Students should not rely upon stipend fellowships to pay their tuition. Stipends are paid after the 12th class day of each semester, after the eligibility check has been completed. The eligibility check consists of verifying that the student's GPA minimum is 3.0 or above and the student is enrolled full-time (defined as a minimum of 9 hours in long semesters or a minimum of 3 hours in the summer) in courses that count toward their LBJ School degree.

Stipends will not be paid until a student has completed registration each semester. To complete registration, students need to pay tuition or make payment arrangements toward tuition.

Emergency Cash loans, Tuition loans, and installment plans are available for students. More information about short-term loans is available at <https://tuition.utexas.edu/pay>

More information on federal financial aid and paying tuition can be found at the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid (<https://finaid.utexas.edu/ut-financial-aid-policy/>) and Texas One Stop: (<https://onestop.utexas.edu/>)

Once a student has accepted a fellowship and has met the registration and fellowship requirements, it will be paid according to the fellowship agreement and general regulations. Every LBJ School student receiving an admissions fellowship from the LBJ School or University of Texas at Austin is required to report all offers of University employment while enrolled at the LBJ School, even if the employment is to be performed outside of the LBJ School. Certain fellowships do not permit concurrent employment. Please notify lbjfellowships@austin.utexas.edu prior to accepting employment if you wish to confirm whether fellowship would be affected.

Any students receiving a tuition waiver as part of their fellowship who accept employment as a Teaching Assistant or Graduate Research Assistant/Graduate Assistant for a total of 20 hours per week or more, must activate the UT on-line tuition waiver provided as part of their employment package (if eligible) instead of accepting the tuition waiver provided in their admissions fellowship package. If the tuition waiver for the admissions fellowship has already been applied to the student's tuition bill, the student must notify lbjfellowships@austin.utexas.edu to remove this waiver and activate the UT employment waiver.

It is important to directly contact Financial Aid at <https://finaid.utexas.edu/types-of-aid> if you have any questions relative to how your fellowship will impact your financial aid amounts and timing of financial aid payments. Please note it is the student's responsibility to self-report all fellowships and awards on the student's UT page. Failure to self-report fellowships may lead to financial aid award adjustments.

4.1.1 Current Student Fellowships

LBJ School students are encouraged to review the LBJ School website for fellowships and awards made available to assist in funding professional development and public policy related opportunities. The fellowships, along with their criteria, eligibility, and requirements can be found at: <https://lbj.utexas.edu/lbj-school-fellowships>.

4.1.2 Internship Fellowships

LBJ School students pursuing full-time summer internships or policy apprenticeships to meet their degree requirements are eligible to apply for internship fellowships. Fellowship information, including criteria and eligibility, along with application deadlines, vary by endowment/fellowship and can be found at <https://lbj.utexas.edu/internship-fellowships>. The Internship Fellowship Committee reviews all applications, and awards are granted until the funds are exhausted. A student is eligible to receive only one LBJ School internship fellowship during the course of his/her studies at the LBJ School. Students who have been approved to waive the internship or have already completed the LBJ School internship requirement are not eligible for an LBJ School internship fellowship.

4.2 LBJ Career Resources

Securing a strategically placed internship and establishing a proactive job search plan are important aspects of the LBJ School experience. New students are encouraged to begin contacting and meeting with the LBJ School Office of Career Management as soon as possible. Information can be found at: <https://lbj.utexas.edu/career-management>. This is particularly important for entering students seeking jobs and internships that require a security clearance because processing applications for a security clearance can take anywhere from six to eight months.

Services provided by your Career Resources Specialist include personalized career advising, resume development counseling, job search assistance, mock interviews, alumni networking, mentor pairing, employer information sessions, career fairs, and a set of career and professional development related workshops to assist you with enhancing your professional skills.

4.2.1 Jobs and Internships

OSAA posts jobs and internships we become aware of on Handshake (found here:

<https://utcns.joinhandshake.com/login>). An account will be created for you during the first week of classes and you will receive an email which will assist you with establishing your login password. You will have access to all external jobs and internship postings with the ability to view employer profiles and access additional resources by policy area. Please consider Handshake one resource for students to find jobs and internships.

4.2.2 Career Management Workshops

You can find a description of available workshops on the LBJ Career Management Canvas page (as part of OSAA's Enrolled Student Canvas site), as well as posted to Handshake. All students are encouraged to attend as many careers management workshops as possible. Invites requesting an RSVP will be sent a week prior to the workshop via the LBJ student listserv, will be included in the OSAA Student Newsletter, and will be posted around the LBJ building.

To participate in certain recruiting events, students will be required to complete certain steps- information will be provided in the early Fall Semester.

4.2.3 Career Management Office Hours and Contact Information

The Career Management Office has appointments available 8:30 am- 5:00 pm. Monday - Friday. Appointments can be made through Handshake.

Contact the Career Resources Specialist: OSAA Office, SRH 3.104G (512) 471-8325

4.3 Student Professional Development Office

The OSAA Student Professional Development Team focuses on bringing co-curricular opportunities to LBJ students, in the form of workshops, resources and the Student Professional Development Certificate Program. More details will be shared in the Fall Semester. For questions, you can reach the team at: lbjprofessionaldev@austin.utexas.edu.
